occurs just as it does; for the law is direct and explicit in requiring an election in a limited time to fill it; and to hold an election all over the State for choice of this single officer, would subject the people to a heavy expense and an amount of trouble which it is desirable to avoid.

whether it would not permit the election for Attorney General to reach over to the regular Spring election in April. We find that under the law of February 3, 1865, Judge Hall has sixty days within which to accept his commission and qualify; because this law, being sweeping in its provisions and of a later date, repeals the provision. of the general election haw which would otherwise require him to enter on the discharge of his duties in ten days. The Attorney Generalship does not become vacant till Mr. Hall accepts his commission by qualifying as Judge. This he may do as late as the 21st of January. Within ten days thereafter the Governor is required to issue his proclamation appointing a day for holding the election, not more than sixty days distant. This would carry the election over it to be come vacant till we miles from Dublin, on the 11th inst.

The Memoriam.

In Memoriam.

At a meeting of the members of Company H, 185th Regiment O. V. I., held in Alexandria, Va., November 23th, 1865, Captain James H. Prentiss was called to the Chair, and Liept. Thomas A. Mellor appointed Scertary. Erskine M. Hamilton, Wm H. Caldwell and Albert H. Black, being appointed a Committee to draft resolutions, presented the following to the meeting, which was arrested, with three men, named Kickham, Brophy and Duffy, in a cottage at Sandamount, about two miles from Dublin, on the 11th inst.

The Dublin Evening Mail says the

We respectfully suggest to our hyper-critical cotemporary that Gov. Boreman did his exact duty under the 55th section and the sixth paragraph of the 35th section, of the general election law.

We would add that if the papers conducted in the interests of the returned rebels would inculcate obedience to the laws instead of resistance to their enforcement, we should not have occasion to regret such shameful conduct as they were guilty of in some sections of the State at the recent election. We believe the returned rebels would in general behave the mental rebels and shortly regain and deserves the confidence of loyal people are satisfied that the privilege of the franchise, they will not longer withold it; but their conduct in the recent election was not calculated to have been and defyers of law by such prints as the Republican has recently become. Amendment to the State Constitution.

The Point Pleasant Register says that "our Legislature this winter will be composed largely of amendment men, and the few Butternuts who are opposed to this measure will have but little show. We have no doubt that the amendment will be passed by this body by a large majority."
